The Review is entered at post office in Portland, Oregon, as mail matter of the second class under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

If this war continues much longer the world may learn to subsist by chewing gum flavored with meat gravy.

A new revision of the old adage might read: Save your pennies and the war hogs will take care of your dollars.

Housemaids in Seattle are organizing a union, in which they will demand an eight hour day and no Sunday cooking.

It worries daughter for mother to buy a nickle's worth when it is just as easy to buy a quarter's worth and throw away what isn't used.—Ex.

Anyhow, the new German chancellor has nothing on our senators and congressmen when it comes to talking two hours without saying anything.

Not only has the price of buttons increased from 90 cents to $1.20 a gross since the beginning of the war, but the price of shingle nails also has gone up.

The recent rains have proven quite a check on the illness that had been prevailing in various homes in St. Johns. Oregon needs its regular quota of moisture to make it the delightfully healthful climate it invariably is.

Wooden shoes are coming into vogue in some of the Eastern cities, it is said. Unless the price of leather shoes take a turn for the better, there may be a lot of people wearing either wooden shoes or none at all before Spring.

Being a pacifist or a conscientious objector does not seem to interfere with knowing just how the war should be conducted and explaining to all comers wherein our government and the allies do not know their business.

The government buys its news print for 2-1-2 cents per pound, while the country publisher is compelled to pay almost three times that rate. The probable reason for the difference is that the government can enforce such a rate as it now enjoys, while the country publisher cannot. Undoubtedly the paper makers realize a profit at the government rate, and such being the case, what an enormous profit is realized from the country press?

On last Saturday morning the employees of the local ship plant, in conjunction with workers in other ship plants on the coast, went out on a strike. A raise in wages and a "closed" shop is said to be the reason for the strike. It is understood that the owners are disposed to grant an increase in pay, but are unalterably opposed to a closed shop. Just how the controversy will end remains to be seen, but it is sincerely to be hoped that an amicable agreement will be reached before the week is ended. The workmen are entitled to the best wages that it is possible to pay, and at the same time the owners of the plants are entitled to a fair profit upon their contracts. At the local plant the contracts are all for the government, and for that reason it is believed by some of the striking workmen that the government will take the matter up and bring about an adjustment. The strike here is a peaceable one and there seems to be no hard feelings engendered on either side. It is a simply a matter of disagreement, and when that has been adjusted one way or another the workmen will resume work once more. There has been no attempt so far to break the strike by the employment of new labor, the employers preferring to have their old workmen back. Attempts at agreement are now being made, and it is the universal hope that matters will be speedily adjusted and work resumed.

Special gospel meetings are being conducted in the Gospel Hall, next to the drug store, corner Portsmouth avenue and Lombard street, nightly, except Saturday, at 7:30. Mr. Nels Thompson, a converted gambler, is the evangelist. Mr. Thompson is from California, and travels with his family in a specially built housekeeping auto. Everybody is invited to these meetings.

Death of W. H. Graves

William Herbert Graves died at his home on East Tyler street September 14th, 1917, aged 77 years, 8 months and 3 days. He was born in Manchester, Michigan, and spent his early years in Palmyra, Wisconsin. He volunteered his services for his country in the War of the Rebellion. He first enlisted in the First Minnesota Infantry for three months. At the expiration of that time he was discharged and given a deed to 160 acres of land. About the time of his arrival at his home town a Company was being organized, composed mostly of his old school mates, in which he enlisted for three years under command of Capt. Shaw, his former teacher. They eventually joined the Third Wisconsin Cavalry. At the expiration of the three years he re-enlisted for the remainder of the war, returning to his home after being mustered out of service. While employed by the N. W. R. R. at Janesville, Wisconsin, he met and married Isabella Reon. They took up a homestead in Iowa, where they remained two years. They then sold and started for the West, coming to San Francisco. From there with his wife and two small children they took a sailing vessel for Portland. The voyage was a rough one and 21 days they were at sea before they could make the port. Several times it seemed useless to try to save the ship, as they nearly went on the rocks. The captain stood all night at the wheel in his stocking feet. They settled in East Portland and have resided most of the time in this city and vicinity until the time of his demise. Eight children were born to them, of whom six are living. He leaves a wife, Mrs. Isabella Graves, and children as follows: Mrs. E. J. Patterson, Battle Ground, Wash.; Dr. Nathan Hale of San Francisco, Cal.; Capt. Ora Floyd of Rainier, Ore.; Dr. Luzana Graves Duncan, Mrs. C. E. Brous and Mrs. T. L. Kingsbury of this city. Two sisters also survive—Mrs. Chas. Seoney, Tacoma, Wash., and Mrs. Martha Corning of Portland. Mrs. A. K. Graves, his mother, was buried nearly two years ago at the age of 99 years.

Benefit Movie Show

The soldier boys ask for books—text books and uplifting fiction—in every encampment in this country and in France where American soldiers are stationed. It means a reduction of drinking, gambling and kindred vices. Portland's share of the money to be raised is $25,000, so again St. Johns rises to do her bit. A benefit movie will be given next Thursday night at the Multnomah Theatre, Messrs. McCredie and Phillips generously donating the use of the theatre free for the purpose. Besides moving pictures a program will be rendered consisting of solo by Mrs. Gabriel Pullin, violin selection by Elmer Sneed, baritone solo by Mr. Leek of Portland, and reading by Mrs. Geo. M. Hall. Let everybody attend. Admission, ten cents to all.

Cards of thanks notices are charged for at the rate of fifty cents each. Persons desiring to have such notices published should make a note of this.

For Sale—Two five room cottages, lot 100x100, East Charleston. Will be sold at a bargain. Call 718 East Richmond street.

Magone—Marlett—Magone, furniture dealers, are opening up a furniture store in the room formerly occupied by the Cloverland milk depot on Philadelphia street. They had been engaged in business on Russell street, and have moved their stock to St. Johns. The three members of the firm are all St. Johns boys, who have many friends here, and they will undoubtedly succeed well in their new undertaking in St. Johns.

A delegation of St. Johns citizens made a call upon the city council Wednesday morning to ascertain what was contemplated in regard to the proposed extension of Greeley street. It was found that the council had referred the matter to Commissioner Barbur's department, and the probabilities were that the proceedings would have to be begun at the beginning. Just when the matter would be formally taken up was not learned. Owing to the elevator and other institutions locating here, the need of opening up this thoroughfare is said to be greater than ever, as it would afford a means of reaching Portland proper quickly. Besides cutting off practically two miles in distance, it would reduce the running time of the trolley cars about fifteen minutes, providing the street car lines would be operated over it.
